OSSTF Toronto Teachers' Bargaining Unit Anti-Harassment Policy and Procedure

Let us not take thought for our separate interests, but let us help one another.

A member of OSSTF/FEESO has the right to a workplace and union environment free from harassment and bullying.

Harassment and discrimination are not joking matters. They have a destructive effect on the workplace environment, individual wellbeing, and union solidarity. Such actions are not only destructive, they can be illegal.

Inadvertent, hidden and systemic harassment and discrimination must be identified and addressed. The roots of systemic harassment and discrimination include but are not limited to racism, sexism, and homophobia and transphobia. OSSTF/ FEESO does not condone harassment or discrimination on the basis of age, national or ethnic origin, colour, religion, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, race, socio-economic status or mental or physical disability.

Harassment and discrimination can take many forms and may be verbal, physical or psychological. They can involve a wide range of actions including comments, gestures or looks, pictures, messages, touching, or more aggressive actions. These acts may be indirect or overt; they may be isolated or repeated.

Acts of harassment and discrimination are always degrading, unwelcome and coercive. They are always unacceptable.

As members of OSSTF/FEESO, our goal must be to protect human rights, to promote mutual respect and trust, and to foster inclusion.

We cannot condone or tolerate intimidating, demeaning, hostile and aggressive behaviour against another member. We cannot condone these behaviours when we witness them.

As OSSTF/FEESO members, we must speak out against this conduct and stand together to protect human rights. We must take action.

OSSTF/FEESO is committed to strengthening member solidarity, and in addition to representing members' interests in the workplace, takes seriously its own responsibility to ensure that members are treated with respect and dignity at all provincially sponsored OSSTF/FEESO events and meetings.

Any member who feels targeted by harassment or discrimination must be able to speak up and know their concerns will be responded to immediately in accordance with OSSTF/FEESO Bylaws and the OSSTF Toronto Teachers' Bargaining Unit Resolution and Complaint Process.

Resolution and Complaints Process

An anti-harassment officer will be appointed for Council Meetings, the Annual General Meeting and the Branch President's Workshop. Members who believe they have been the target of harassment or discrimination at these events are encouraged to take immediate action to ensure this behaviour is stopped.

As a first step, members should make it clear to the perpetrator that the behaviour is offensive, and ask that it be stopped. This can be done personally, either in writing or verbally, or with the assistance of a third party.

If the behaviour recurs or persists, or if members do not feel safe in approaching the perpetrator directly, they should speak with the designated officer(s) and ask for that person to act. The designated anti-harassment officers shall be appointed by the President from the group of current Health and Safety Inspectors (as appointed in accordance with by-law 4.1.2.7) and will also form the complaints and resolutions committee.

The designated anti-harassment officer(s) will investigate the complaint promptly, including separately interviewing the parties involved and any witnesses, with a view to resolving the problem informally. During this process, the designated anti-harassment officer(s) may remove the respondent temporarily from the meeting if circumstances warrant.

The investigation shall be handled confidentially; however, all complaints will be reported by the designated anti-harassment officer(s) to the President and/ or the Vice Presidents.

If the complaint cannot be resolved informally, the complainant will be asked to put the complaint and all relevant information in writing.

If the complainant chooses to provide such a written complaint, it will be submitted to the designated staff person in the Bargaining Unit office who will forward it to the complaints and resolutions committee for action. It shall be the responsibility of the complaints and resolutions committee to determine if the behaviour falls under the definition of harassment, and decide on appropriate remedial action. While conducting the investigation, the committee will be informed by an understanding of the systemic roots of discrimination and harassment as expressed in the OSSTF/FEESO Equity Statement.

The parties involved will receive a written report stating the findings and any action taken.

Resolutions may include but are not limited to apologies, mediation, warnings, temporarily limiting access, or removal/ exclusion from the meeting or event. If a decision is made to remove or exclude that member, and where this member is representing the bargaining unit, a confidential letter outlining the reasons for this decision will be sent to the president of the appropriate body. The Bargaining Unit Office shall keep a confidential file of all records and reports related to the investigation of written complaints for a period of five years.

None of the above restricts a member's right to file a complaint with the Ontario Human Rights Commission or make a complaint to police.

OSSTF Toronto TTBU Branch Elections Electionrunner.com: Step-by Step Instructions

Obtaining and Setting up the Branch Database File

Prior to setting up an account on electionrunner, be sure to have obtained the CSV file containing the members of your Branch and with their respective OSSTF numbers. Update the file with members that may not be on the list, including those on a leave of absence.

The CSV file will contain the following columns:

- name
- voter_identifier
- voter_key
- email
- · vote weight

Do not alter the columns, otherwise the import function will fail.

Column Info / Fields

Field	Column	Description
Name	name	The name field allows you to associate a name with a Voter Identifier. This is for your records and will only be seen by the voter if you choose to add an email address for the voter. This field is not required.
Voter Identifier	voter_identifier	The Voter Identifier (Voter ID) is what can be considered as the Voter's "username". The voter will use this field when logging in to vote for your election. This field will be the member's OSSTF number.
Voter Key	voter_key	The Voter Key is what can be considered as the Voter's "password". The voter will use this field when logging in to vote for your election. This field is purposely left blank and a random value will be generated after importing.
Email	email	The Email field will be used as a way to notify your voter when the election launches. If provided, the voter will receive an email with voting instructions as soon as your election starts. Email addresses should be the member's non-Board email address, and not their TDSB account.
Vote Weight	vote_weight	The Vote Weight field allows you to assign a weight to the voter's ballot. If you do not have weighted voting enabled for your election, you can leave this column empty. By default, each voter's vote weight is 1 (see: Weighted Voting)

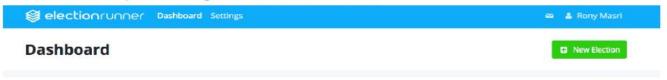

Verify the information within the file and add any members that are not on the list using the parameters outlined in the table above.

OSSTF TORONTO Jim McQueen Excellence in Education Award

Criteria

The Jim McQueen Excellence in Education Award (formerly the OSSTF District 12 STBU Award) recognizes students in the Toronto District School Board for their exceptional involvement and service to their school and/or community life. This award will be presented to one student from each secondary/junior high school in the TDSB.

Schools may select the recipient based on any one or more of the following criteria:

OUTSTANDING PARTICIPATION IN AND CONTRIBUTION TO SCHOOL LIFE

This category includes any student who goes beyond expectation in any area of the school's life. Candidates might be the yearbook or newsletter editor whose efforts go beyond the call of duty, an athlete who embodies the spirit of the school in his or her work, or any person who does more than just participate. One who extends him/herself to encourage others, or one who puts the good of the whole school first, would be an excellent candidate.

EXCEPTIONAL COMMUNITY SERVICE

The likely candidate in this area is someone who gives of himself or herself for the good of the whole school community. A student who assists in a senior citizens' home, one who is active in Youth Assisting Youth; or one who helps someone less fortunate are examples of who could qualify in this category.

UNIQUE AND DISTINGUISHED EFFORT

This student has achieved personal excellence in any number of areas during his or her school life. He or she may have excelled in areas of arts, sports, academics, volunteer service, either in the school or within the community. This student may have overcome great obstacles in his or her life and subsequently gone on to become a better person.

CITIZENSHIP

This student may not be a future leader of our society, but will certainly contribute to its improvement. This person could be someone who is a leader among his or her peers, respected for effort and achievement and who uses his or her ability to lead others for their own benefit through precept or example.

DISCRETIONARY

This may be a student who stands out for some reason or reasons that escape categorization. This student may not be a scholar, an athlete, or a student government participant but probably is known by the staff and students as the one to count on when they need help, enthusiastic support or a good friend.

Provincial Executive Liaison Report

To: District 12 TTBU Council

From: Harvey Bischof, President

Earl Burt, Treasurer

1. Ministry of Education Memos to School Boards

The Ministry of Education released three memos to School Boards on May 27.

- i. Additional Assessment and Reporting Clarification and Guidance
- ii. Additional Guidance on Special Education and Mental Health
- iii. Personal Property Retrieval Guidelines for Schools

Summaries of these memos are provided in COVID-19 Update #12 which can be accessed in the member only section of the OSSTF/FEESO website – myOSSTF. The related Ministry memos have also been posted.

2. OCT Video Conferencing Guidelines

On May 1, 2020 the Ontario College of Teachers (OCT) released Video Conferencing Guidelines, advice for teachers using video conferencing strategies during the pandemic. The guidelines are intended to provide best practices for teachers in maintaining professional boundaries and modeling professionalism while engaging in video conferencing with students and families.

While much of the advice from the OCT adheres to previous advice from the OCT and OSSTF/FEESO, the risks raised in the new College document underscore the need for members to use their professional judgment to evaluate the appropriate use of technology applicable to their practice. Live videos do make members more vulnerable to unpredictable audience behaviour. Members may consider using techniques such as asynchronous pre-recorded videos, where technology permits. Communicating with students and families can happen effectively without the use of video, and if using a platform that includes video, covering up or turning off student and teacher webcams can also be considered, where appropriate. Teacher members are strongly advised to avoid having one-on-one video sessions with students because of the inherent risk associated with being alone with a student. As per the OCT Professional Advisory Professional Misconduct of a Sexual Nature, members should avoid seeing [a student] in private situations. Ensure classroom and office doors are open, that the student is not physically isolated from others, and that your interactions can be observed. OSSTF/FEESO believes the same principles apply in virtual formats.

OSSTF/FEESO issued D/BU #126 OCT Video Conferencing Guidelines to highlight that employer protocols differ from one school board to another; it is not possible to give consistent detailed advice to all members across the province. It is OSSTF/FEESO's position that members should exercise professional judgment on strategies and formats they use for curriculum delivery during this time in order to deliver the most effective and appropriate instruction. D/BU #126 also provides suggested strategies for virtual format implementation and classroom management. These suggestions can be considered for all members using online formats.

D/BU #105 Implications of the Use of Video Streaming Platforms with Students and COVID-19 Update #3 and #10 provide further context and advice to all education worker members using video communication with families and students.

All members should be reminded of their obligation to be aware of, and comply with, any advisories released by their own professional colleges.

People for Education (P4E) released their report, Technology in Schools - A Tool and a Strategy, on May 6, 2020.

The main point in the report is "...Technology can be a very useful tool in education, but it cannot act as a replacement for the rich learning and human development that happens in the myriad face-to-face settings and relationships that exist in schools."

P4E also raises the concern that the government's focus on using technology during the pandemic will push education back to a "...narrow focus on the "3 R's" and education that can be delivered simply, through things like online work sheets and tests." Key points raised in their report are:

- schools are a potential social equalizer;
- education should not be viewed as a means of providing marketable skills for a labour force but ensuring students can fully participate in all aspects of a social democratic society;
- there are connectivity inequities in the province family capacity to support students in remote learning and student access to technology is largely determined on where they live geographically, on socio-economic status and race;
- "STEM opportunities for students are not distributed equally and there are disparities between schools along socio-economic and geographic lines";
- on-line education has a great potential to augment traditional schooling but cannot replace it;
- on-line learning cannot replace the learning communities created in traditional classrooms and schools;
- to be of benefit, technology is a tool and needs to be supported with teacher professional development and informed pedagogy;
- nearly half of the students taking e-learning before the pandemic used the school library - increasingly viewed as technology hubs or Learning Commons – yet there is a decline in the number of teacher-librarians in these areas, positions best suited for the role of supporting/preparing students for digital education;
- principals report there are challenges with student support and supervision even at the low rate of 6% of students enrolling in e-learning courses (up from 2% in 2009) and do not know how they will address the challenges with the government's move to 100% of students required to take two e-learning courses before they graduate;
- broadband internet connectivity is not universal across the province for schools and the public nor is it universally reliable across the province to provide seamless elearning experiences [NOTE: this is something that was known to the Ministry of Education for years - as revealed in a meeting of the Ministry Learning Resources Work Group in April 2020]; and inadequate funding of school boards and 'bring your own device' (BYOD) policies exacerbates the socio-economic disparities in equity of access especially when schools have to resort to fund-raising to purchase technology for student use.

In the report, P4E makes the following four recommendations "to make schools future-ready" and make Ontario a national leader. Their recommendations would be in-line with current OSSTF/FEESO positions and policy.

People for Education recommends that the provincial government:

- Develop a coherent plan and consistent language that integrates The New Basics and transferable skills across the curriculum and report cards from Kindergarten to Grade 12.
- ii. Develop one comprehensive grant within the Grants for Student Needs to support technology and the implementation of e-learning in schools including funding for staff support at the board and school level, a range of resources, infrastructure, and professional development. Funding for secondary school e-learning teachers should be provided at a rate of funding for 1 teacher per 23 students the same as regular classroom teachers.
- iii. Delay the implementation of e-learning policy until the fall of 2021, and conduct extensive consultation and engagement with experts, educators, board staff, parents, and students to ensure e-learning is appropriately supported and delivered, and its benefits understood. This will encourage more students to take online courses and remove the need for making it a mandatory qualification for graduation.
- iv. Provide funding and policy for staff, and designated places in schools so that students enrolled in e-learning have supervised space with the appropriate infrastructure, equipment, and pedagogical support.

4. Joint White Ribbon and OSSTF/FEESO Curriculum Resource on Preventing Sexual Exploitation

For many years, White Ribbon and OSSTF/FEESO have collaborated on curriculum resources focused on ending gender based violence and the sexual exploitation of women and girls.

White Ribbon is a thought-leader in gender-based violence prevention. Through research, reports and work with partners, we inspire changes in policy, practice and culture to address the root causes of gender-based violence. White Ribbon is primarily focused on educating and changing attitudes of men and boys to end violence against women.

OSSTF/FEESO has been working collaboratively on a Preventing Sexual Exploitation joint project with White Ribbon. The scope of this project included:

- · Selecting members to write curriculum lessons
- Designing and developing digital resources
- Translating the digital resource to French
- Providing training for secondary educators on using the resource and
- Promoting digital resource to stakeholders.

Most of the project has been completed, but due to the COVID-19 Pandemic and school closures, piloting the curriculum has hit a snag. After several meetings between OSSTF/FEESO and White Ribbon, the advisory work group has decided against piloting the curriculum despite the Ministry of Education moving to distance learning. The reason for this is that there will be no support available to students who may be triggered while participating in the piloting due to distance learning. Currently, Tracey Marshall and Peter Bates sit on the advisory group representing OSSTF/FEESO.

Our next steps will instead take the form of virtual focus groups, undertaken by White Ribbon with educators to obtain the necessary feedback for the curriculum. Each focus group would include five to seven educators taking part in a 90-minute session. We will be working with White Ribbon to decide how the focus groups will be unveiled and which districts will participate. The timeline for the completion of this project has been extended to August 2020.

From the creation of these resources and the re-envisioning of this project to accommodate the changing education atmosphere due to the COVID-19 Pandemic, an extension to this project has been proposed and accepted by Public Safety Canada. White Ribbon has again asked us to collaborate on this extension. The new project, Preventing Online Sexual Exploitation Together, has a proposed period of April 2020 to August 2020.

Using new digital assets created from the campaign, and adapted sexual exploitation prevention resources created by White Ribbon and OSSTF/FEESO, the project's goal is to engage vulnerable youth, parents and educators to reduce the fear of reporting. It will enhance their awareness in the prevention of online sexual exploitation, with a focus on interrupting the grooming process on various online platforms. Together with White Ribbon project partners, bilingual workshop and assemblies will be delivered in schools across Ontario, engaging thousands of youth. Workshops with educators and parents will be delivered in-person, with participating schools, and community partners.

5. Research Partnership Strategy

Over the last number of years, OSSTF/FEESO has received a steady increase in requests for support/partnership/assistance with external research. OSSTF/FEESO is strongly committed to supporting and promoting evidence-informed practices in public education. As part of that commitment, OSSTF/FEESO supports high-quality research and welcomes opportunities to collaborate with external investigators on diverse studies and projects. To support this work, the Provincial Executive has determined that a strategy to guide OSSTF/FEESO in responding to requests with external research was necessary. Staff consulted with research associates at the Canadian Teachers' Federation (CTF), who were in the process of developing their own set of research partnership protocols.

The strategy comprises the following elements:

- OSSTF/FEESO Research Partnership Strategy Overview (for internal use only)
- · Guidelines for Potential Research Partners
- Research Partnership Application Form (adapted from CTF)
- OSSTF/FEESO Ethics Evaluation

The proposed research partnership strategy will be available on the OSSTF/FEESO website where researchers can obtain information about the application process, deadlines, and the documents needed to complete their application. This information would include a description of how OSSTF/FEESO can support researchers (i.e., by making members aware of survey links, by distributing invitations to participate) and how OSSTF/FEESO will not support researchers (i.e., by sharing e-mail or other personal information).

6. Report on the CLC Domestic Violence Roundtable – May 13, 2020

On May 13, 2020, the Canadian Labour Congress (CLC) convened a video call for unions across Canada to discuss domestic violence issues, to share actions taken by the CLC, and to share what unions are doing to address the increasing levels of domestic violence during COVID-19. The pandemic is amplifying issues across the country that were present in shelters, with employers and with unions prior to the pandemic.

In some places, reporting of violence is very high and shelters are full. However, in a majority of places, reporting of violence is low and shelters are empty. Many women are not sure if shelters are open and they are worried about contracting COVID-19 if they go to a shelter. Some shelters cannot reopen due to government regulations during this pandemic, as they are unable to adhere to the rule of providing one bathroom per resident.

What is the CLC doing?

The CLC continues to push the federal government for a National Action Plan on Domestic Violence. They have created a statement and people can sign on to that statement on their website, which calls for the creation and implementation of an action plan.

In addition, the CLC continues to focus on education. They have a variety of training courses, in conjunction with University of Western Ontario (UWO) and the shelter movement. Those courses include:

- A 2.5 day course for union representatives to recognize and respond to domestic violence should they become aware of it.
- A 2.5 day facilitators training course to be taken by union representatives, cofacilitated by the shelter movement.
- A 1-hour training module, to be taken by a representative who has already taken the 2.5 day facilitators course to become a local expert on domestic violence and to use that training to educate other members.

What is happening across Canada during COVID-19?

Unfortunately, due to the pandemic, many of the training opportunities offered by the CLC and other affiliates are on hold because of social distancing and limited gathering rules. The main issues that unions are struggling with or are working towards are:

- Do they wait for COVID-19 to end or try to deliver some kind of online training?
 The impact of not doing the training is great. The need to adapt for triggering is also important.
- How do we, as a union, provide support to women who are experiencing domestic violence during COVID? Domestic violence has gone in hiding, as many women are at home with their abusers and not able to talk to anyone privately.

- How do you measure domestic violence training outcomes and results with online training?
- Some unions have put together an open domestic violence forum to discuss training opportunities and have discussion on the issues.
- Access for service in rural areas is lacking and contact with those members is difficult.
- Post COVID-19 recovery needs to be feminist focused.
- Unions are putting together #MeToo workshops for men. Finding supportive allies is important.
- CLC is committed to putting online resources together for other affiliates to share.
- SEIU, Unifor has women's advocates. SEIU has not begun this program due to COVID-19 and although advocates are trained, there is uncertainty on how to roll out this program.
- Most unions are using the UWO training in some way.
- CUPE developed a domestic violence at work workshop for members and they have rolled out an online version of this training.
- Many affiliates are attempting to bargain domestic violence language.

7. National Inquiry into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls On May 26, 2020, the federal government announced that it is postponing the release of an action plan on missing and murdered Indigenous women and girls. A comprehensive plan was supposed to be released in June 2020, on the one-year anniversary of the release of the final report Reclaiming Power and Place: The Final Report of the National Inquiry into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls

Crown-Indigenous Relations Minister Carolyn Bennett's explanation for the delay is that more work and consultation needs to take place with Indigenous partners, before a formal response to the report's 231 recommendations can be finalized. Minister Bennett also cited the COVID-19 pandemic as a cause for the set back in the government's timeline. The government has not provided any timeline for the release of the plan.

When questioned in the House of Commons, Prime Minister, Justin Trudeau also reiterated the COVID-19 pandemic response as a cause for the delay.

Former chief commissioner Marion Buller has publicly stated that governments have had ample time to get the work done by the promised date.

The Native Women's Association of Canada (NWAC) is "appalled" by the decision and has called on the government to meet with them in an effort to move forward with action and present a comprehensive action plan.

Chief Connie Big Eagle of Ocean Man First Nation in Saskatchewan and chair of the Assembly of First Nations Women's Council has publicly stated support for the government's decision and said she does not want to see a rushed response.

OSSTF/FEESO has put out messages and statements about the MMIWG National Inquiry in the past supporting its work, as well as the work of the National Commission on Truth and Reconciliation. To continue our advocacy on this issue, the Provincial Executive has requested input from the First Nations, Métis, and Inuit Advisory Work Group on the advisability of sending a letter to the federal government to: 1) express OSSTF/FEESO's disappointment with the lack of action on the recommendations from the Final Report of the National Inquiry into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women and Girls, and 2) call on the federal government to respond to the concerns and request from the Native Women's Association of Canada (NWAC), and 3) request a definitive timeline for the release of the government's action plan.

8. Solidarity for Colombian Allies against Illegal Surveillance of Citizens OSSTF/FEESO has maintained a strong alliance with a number of Colombian labour and human rights organizations through a number of organizations, including Canadian labour affiliates and non-profit groups. Recently, OSSTF/FEESO received a request from Common Frontiers to write a letter to the Government of Colombia regarding recent human rights violations.

Common Frontiers forwarded this request for support and solidarity through the José Alvear Restrepo Lawyers' Collective Corporation (CCAJAR), an organization that OSSTF/FEESO representatives have met on a number of occasions both in Colombia and in Canada. Members of the CCAJAR have come to Canada in the past to speak with Members of Parliament on a number of human rights issues, often with the support of OSSTF/FEESO.

Most recently, the CCAJAR has identified concerns about Colombia's military and intelligence forces using illegal surveillance methods to monitor citizens and international guests, including journalists, human rights defenders, lawyers, politicians and other government officials. The CCAJAR believes that over 130 citizens were the target of illegal military surveillance operations in an 11-month span in 2019.

Past efforts by OSSTF/FEESO to shine a light on human rights violations in Colombia have been welcomed by Common Frontiers, Colombian education unions, Indigenous organizations and other international allies. OSSTF/FEESO will show our support and solidarity by sending a letter to the President of Colombia.

9. Commitment of Funding by Affiliates to Bangladesh Garment Workers During COVID-19

OSSTF/FEESO has joined other labour affiliates to contribute funds to support Bangladesh garment workers. In total, OSSTF/FEESO, CUPE, PSAC, UFCW, USW and the CLC have committed $110,000 to the Bangladesh Center for Worker Solidarity to support garment workers who have lost their jobs and incomes due to COVID-19.

A joint letter of solidarity signed by the Presidents of the representative organization was sent to the Bangladesh Center for Worker Solidarity, along with funds that will be used to send food baskets and basic medical kits to workers in need. OSSTF/FEESO's contribution was $5,000 to the fund.

10. PSUO-SSUO

The University of Ottawa filed on May 25, 2020 a request to the Ministry of Labour, Training and Skills Development to force a "Final Offer Vote" on the PSUO-SSUO membership based on the university's last tabled position on April 16, 2020.

The local PSUO-SSUO bargaining unit leaders and Provincial Executive and Provincial Office staff have been working to prepare a fight back campaign to encourage members to overwhelmingly vote NO to the Employer's final offer and egregious move in negotiations.

This Final Offer includes significant strips such as:

- Benefit cut for the reimbursement of prescription drugs which is currently 100 % but now will be 80 % reimbursement with an out of pocket cap of 3000 $;
- reductions to the supplementary employment benefits (SEB) plan for members who choose to take an extended parental or adoption leaves;
- not addressing the staffing needs to fill over 60 vacant positions which have been vacant an average of 480 days;
- · removing the retirement allowance for new hires; and
- not being willing to ask for an exemption to salary increases under Bill 124 even though the Employer had tabled a total of 5.25 % over 3 years before Bill 124 was introduced in June 2019.

A Town Hall meeting was held on May 26 and an excellent participation was had by engaged PSUO-SSUO members.

The date of the electronic vote has not been set by the Ministry of Labour but we encourage all Districts and Bargaining Units to send letters of support to your colleagues D35 Ottawa.
